To Woman,

To Woman,
Woman! experience might have told me,
That all must love thee who behold thee;
Surely, experience might have taught
Thy firmest promises are naught;
But, placed in all thy charms before me,
All I forget; but to adore thee.
O memory! thou choicest blessing,
When joined with hope, when still possessing:

sessing; But how much cursed by every lover When hope is fied and passion's over.

Woman, that fair and fond deceiver,
How prompt are striplings to believe her!
How throis the pulse when first we view
The eye that rolls in glossy blue,
Or sparkles black, or mildly throws
A beam from under hazel brows!
How qui a we credit every oath
And hear her the willing troth!
Fondly we hope 'twill last for aye,
When, lo! she changes in a day.
This record will forever stand,
"Woman, thy vows are traced in sand."

THE AGE OF WISDOM.

By WILLIAM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

Other selections from Thackeray and his biographical sketch have already been printed in this series.

O! pretty page, with the dimpled chin That never has known the barber's shear, All your wish is woman to win; This is the way that boys begin— Wait till you come to forty year

Curly gold locks cover foolish brains;

Billing and cooling is ell your cheer—
Sighing, and singing of midnight strains,
Under Bonnybell's window-panes—
Wait till you come to forty year.

Grizzling hair the brain doth clear; Then you know a boy is an ass, Then you know the worth of a lass— Once you have come to forty year.

Pledge me round; I bid ye declare, All good fellows whose beards are gray— Did not the fairest of the fair Common grow and wearisome ere Ever a month was passed away,

The reddest lips that ever have kissed,

The brightest eyes that ever have shone,
May pray and whisper and we not list, look away and never be missed-Ere yet ever a month is gone.

Gillian's dead: God rest her bler—
How I loved her twenty years syne! Marian's married; but I sit here, Alone and merry at forty year, Dipping my nose in the Gascon wine.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more of less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which, in many cases, are merely strong catharties. Such things are not needed, if the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Catharties irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition, to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this, perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and exerction of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common-sense medicine and a common-sense treatment, and it will cure every time. Not only oure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.
